Introduction

Government has a responsibility to provide communities with information as prescribed by the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, Act 108 of 1996.

In this regard, the Government Communicator's Handbook enjoins government communication practitioners to employ among other communication concepts, Development Communication, in order to communicate government services and programmes to the people.

Nora Quebral defines Development Communication as "the art and science of human communication applied to the speedy transformation of a country and the mass of its people from poverty to a dynamic state of economic growth that makes greater social equality and the larger fulfilment of the human potential".

In the context of South Africa, Development Communication becomes more relevant, in addressing historical, social and economic factors, which limited access to information, services and participation by the citizens. The majority of our people are not able to access information and government services meant to change their socio-economic standing due to lack of access to both traditional and contemporary digital multimedia platforms.

This Comprehensive Economic Development Service Booklet thus provides an alternative form of disseminating valuable government information to our people. The booklet is strategically designed to offer our stakeholders, a One-stop paper-based information 'portal', for economic development services in the Province.

Communication is not a once off event in a department/institution, rather a continuous activity that supports government service delivery and enhances public trust and active citizenry. Accordingly, we have deliberately develop this Booklet to enhance constant interaction with citizenry, particularly those who does not have access to the internet and social media.

This Booklet covers the work and services of the Department, including its public entities and government's development finance institutions, such as the SEDFA, NEF, NYDA, IDC, and many others.

We hope that the information contained in this Booklet will help unlock your entrepreneurial potential and eagerness to participate in the economic activities of the Province.

MEC: Economic Development and Tourism

Message From The MEC

As the MEC responsible for Economic Development and Tourism matters in the Province, my mandate is to oversee the work of the Department (Economic Development and Tourism), in nurturing and growing the economy of the Province, so as to create the much-needed jobs for our people. Our role, as government, is to put in place policies and strategies which will pave the way and accelerate economic growth. Growing the economy will bolster government's effort in the fight against the stubborn triple challenges of unemployment, poverty and inequality. However, we rely on partnerships with the private sector, given that jobs are actually created by that sector.

The Premier of Mpumalanga, Mr Mandla Ndlovu while delivering his inauguration address, he instructed the newly appointed Members of the Executive Council of the 7th Administration to work tirelessly to improve the lives of our people. As the MEC responsible for Economic Development and Tourism, I have a responsibility to ensure that through this Department, government is able to address the triple challenges of unemployment, poverty and inequality. The Department reaffirms its commitment to create a conducive environment for business to thrive, which will in turn translate to inclusive economic growth.

Accordingly, through collaboration with Finance Development Institutions, we continue to offer financial and non-financial support to MSMEs and Cooperatives, with preference given to those owned by women and the youth. The ANC-led government remain steadfast in our commitment to forge partnership with the private sector, to enable our MSMEs and Cooperatives to participate in the private sector value chain in construction, mining, agriculture and tourism, amongst others.

After taking the oath of office, Premier Mandla Ndlovu gave me the marching orders to focus on tourism development and growth. The Premier wants us to create our own Table Mounting at Mariepskop with its own cable car; he wants us to create our own waves; he wants tourists to experience everything they go for in Cape Town and Durban all in one in our province.

As the dedt, we have four (4) Public Entities which are our implementing agents; namely, the Mpumalanga Economic Growth Agency (MEGA); Mpumalanga Economic Regulator (MER), Mpumalanga Tourism and Parks Agency (MTPA), and the newly established Mpumalanga Nkomazi Special Economic Zone (SEZ).

This Booklet, thus, comes in handy as it provides comprehensive information on where our people can receive assistance; what type of information they can acquire; so as to enable them to meaningfully participate in economic activities of the Province. This is what we call development communication – providing information to the residents so that they can improve their socio-economic standing; their lives.

Accordingly, the Booklet covers the work and services of the Department, including its public entities and government's development finance institutions, such as Small Enterprise Development and Finance Agency (SEDFA), National Empowerment Fund (NEF), National Youth Development Agency (NYDA), the Industrial Development Corporation (IDC), and many others.

I anticipate that this Booklet will stimulate your entrepreneurial appetite. Please utilise the information contained in this Booklet to unlock township and rural economic activities.

Yours in economic development and growth,

JESTA SIDELL, MPL
